User story

- As a full stack developer, I want a portfolio so that I can create my profile.

- As a full stack developer, I want a portfolio so that I can view existing developers' profiles.

- As a full stack developer, I want a portfolio so that I can write a post or view existing posts.

- As a full stack developer, I want a portfolio so that I can write a comment on post or view existing ones.

- As a full stack developer, I want a portfolio so that I can like or dislike a comment.

Acceptance criteria

Scenario: User wants to view existing profiles.

"Given that I'm in a role of registered or guest user

when I open the 'Developers' page from the dashboard

Then the system (application) shows me a list of all registered users (developers).*
the 'Developers'' page contains list of registered users

A brief summary is displayed along with every registered user (developer), plus a 'View profile' button next to each one

And when I click on the 'View profile' button

Then The system (application) shows me the full profile about the concerned registered user (developer)"*

And the system shows at the top left corner a 'back to profiles' button is the user wishes to go back to the list of profiles.